Prof. Hui Wei

Nanjing University, China

Hui Wei is a Professor at Nanjing University and a Fellow of the Royal Society of Chemistry. He received his BS degree from Nanjing University (advisor: Professor Xinghua Xia) and PhD degree from Changchun Institute of Applied Chemistry, Chinese Academy of Sciences (advisor: Professor Erkang Wang). He then joined Professors Yi Lu's and Shuming Nie's groups for two PostD trainings before he started his independent career at Nanjing University. His research interests are focused on nanozymes and their analytical and biomedical applications. His study was published in Nature Nanotechnology, Nature Reviews Methods Primers, Science Advances, Nature Communications, etc. He received numerous awards, including Advances in Measurement Science Lectureship Awards (2025), Nature Awards Microbiome Accelerator (2024), and Dalton Horizon Prize (2023). He is a Highly Cited Researcher (Clarivate) and serves as an Associate Editor of ACS Nano Medicine.